Dear Royal Oak Schools Community,

With snow days and cold days, not to mention exams, a new semester and the third annual MLK Day of Service, it has been a busy start to 2019 for our educators and students. In the course of any week, hundreds of Royal Oak students choose to participate in extracurricular activities and special service projects that help others, giving us many reasons to be proud of them. Our varsity girls basketball team has had a very exciting season, our instrumental music programs played at the MSBOA District IV Festival, and the ROMS Student Council made mittens for the homeless – and these are only a handful of the events that have been highlighted.

As the first phase of the bond work wrapped up at the ROHS Athletic Plaza late this fall, the planning quickly has shifted to the spring/summer 2019 work at Keller and Oak Ridge with classroom, hallway and large group instructional space renovations including new furniture. The interior of ROHS will see substantial work this summer with additions being built for the fine and performing arts wing, renovated science classrooms, and the first portion of the cafeteria and servery renovation. By the end of summer 2019, all elementary schools will have new playground equipment. More details can be found on the district website.

The Royal Oak Schools Cultural Competence Engagement Committee met for the first time on March 6. The group is an evolution of a community forum that met several times since 2017 to share experiences related to the district and what our schools are doing around diversity, equity and inclusion. Beginning this year, this new group of educators, students, parents and community members will explore topics affecting students and families along the lines of race, religion, sexual orientation, special needs, language and poverty. The group intends to learn together, host guest speakers, share school district programs and experiences, and in turn, serve as key communicators to engage with other community members.

We’ve certainly faced some challenges with the Michigan weather this winter. As a reminder, when our buildings are closed for inclement weather or power outages, families and staff are alerted via an official district communication posted on social media, the district website, phone calls, emails, notes shared by principals and/or sent to local media for publication. These communications will include important information about after school and evening special events including use of district facilities by permit holders.

I hope you enjoy the following pages, which contain important information and stories that highlight the hard work of our staff, students and school board. As always, please be sure to visit our district website, www.royaloakschools.org, and click “Subscribe to eNews” to regularly receive our publications.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Fitzpatrick, Superintendent of Schools

This year’s MLK Day celebrations across the district honored the late civil rights leader through a variety of activities. But beneath the surface, the activities were also a celebration of student leadership.

The third annual MLK Day of Service, co-hosted by Berkley and Royal Oak, took place at Royal Oak High School. The day began with breakfast and a program of student performances, guest speakers and videos. Royal Oak students performed an a-cappella version of “I’m Building Me a Home” arranged by Anthony Trecek-King.

The opening video was produced by students at Royal Oak and Berkley high schools. Mike Conrad, ROHS video production teacher, said the collaboration between the two schools highlighted the theme of togetherness, and the students are already planning other videos they can work on as a team. In addition, the instant feedback the young filmmakers received was unique to the event.

“They loved it,” Conrad said. “In a school film production setting, students generally create a project and then it takes weeks or months for them to get views online. To be able to see a video less than 24 hours after they completed it and be able to see the reaction of an auditorium full of people was amazing. The immediate turnaround was phenomenal.”

After the program, more than 200 students, educators and community members worked on volunteer projects at ROHS and out at local organizations. Students, including several Girl Scout Troops, and families from around the district donated time and items to create bags for the homeless and blankets for patients at the DMC Children’s Hospital.

Royal Oak Middle School Student Council members partnered with MK Blanket Wraps to sew mittens for the homeless at the ROHS event. Founded by two sisters, one of whom is a ROMS student, MK Blanket Wraps set up three stations for volunteers and donated more than 100 mittens for the homeless.

The events at Royal Oak High School weren’t the only ways students got in the spirit of the holiday. At Addams Elementary, students worked on various service projects, from assembling healthy snacks and decorating lunch bags for students in Detroit to crafting origami cranes (an international symbol of hope) for the University of Michigan Psychiatry Department to creating placemats for Meals on Wheels.

Oak Ridge Elementary hosted MLK Jr. Day activities before the big event at ROHS. The school’s student senators decided they wanted to put on skits and read MLK’s “I Have a Dream” speech before leading the entire school in a silent march around the school that concluded with a silent circle on the playground. Students and families used the quiet time to reflect on the messages of MLK.

The following day, the Student Senate hosted a day of service where all students created cards and participated in other service opportunities.

“Our Student Senate did a fabulous job preparing an MLK assembly for our school,” Jason Parrot, Oak Ridge principal, said. “The activities were a great way for our students to have a better understanding of the significance of this national holiday. Thank you to our Senators and teacher leaders for two very meaningful days.”
Royal Oak’s PTA Council Annual Founder’s Dinner

February 4 marked the Royal Oak PTA Council’s 98th Annual PTA Founder’s Day dinner.

“For over 100 years, Michigan’s students have benefitted from the involvement, leadership and advocacy of PTA members,” Mary Beth Fitzpatrick, superintendent of Royal Oak Schools, said. “We are so fortunate to have such a dedicated and supportive parent group in Royal Oak Schools. So much of what our students are afforded wouldn’t be possible without the efforts of the PTA membership. Hundreds of parents dedicate their time and talents to our students. The Founder’s Day dinner is a formal chance for all of us to recognize their work and celebrate them.”

The event, which took place at Club Venetian in Madison Heights, was an opportunity to honor members who have made a difference throughout the year. The organization awarded members for distinguished service, gave a Michigan PTA Honorary Lifetime Membership, announced the PTA Council Member of the Year, honored an outstanding educator and called attention to one member that has gone above and beyond the call of duty.

“It is very important that we recognize these volunteers as they spend so much of their freetime making our school district an excellent place for children to learn, grow and succeed,” Diana Barrer, Royal Oak PTA Council Vice President, said. “We aim to set an example for our students and show them the importance of helping others. We are very fortunate in our community to have volunteers that are parents, grandparents, district employees and community members.”

The aim of Royal Oak PTA Council, in common with those of National PTA and Michigan PTA includes promoting the welfare of children and youth; raising the standards of home life; securing adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth; bringing home and school into closer relation so that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the education of children and youth; and developing between educators and the general public united efforts to secure the highest advantages in education for all children and youth.

Intermediate School District Honors RO Special Ed Teachers

Seven Royal Oak Schools special education teachers recently received “The Above and Beyond Award” from the Oakland Schools Special Populations department. They are:

- Amanda Glappa, teacher for the emotionally impaired (Royal Oak Middle School)
- Erin Shaughnessy, social worker (Royal Oak Middle School)
- Heidi Stilwell, teacher for the emotionally impaired (Keller Elementary)
- Karen Siroy, speech pathologist (Addams Elementary)
- Kristin Gembis, Autism Spectrum Disorder teacher (Addams Elementary)
- Lori Pastorino, teacher for the emotionally impaired (Royal Oak High School)
- Roshea Riley, Autism Spectrum Disorder teacher consultant (Addams Elementary)

The award recognizes teachers who demonstrate exemplary commitment to their students by giving their time after school, evenings and weekends to attend professional learning events. Many of the trainings related directly to the educators’ roles and expanded their knowledge in areas such as trauma-informed teaching. A handful of the teachers also participated in ‘train the trainer’ professional development and returned to the district to train other Royal Oak Schools teachers.

Royal Oak Middle School

Each issue, Royal Oak Schools aims to highlight a building, giving the community a look at the school beyond what it sees from the outside. This time we’re featuring Royal Oak Middle School.

Principal: Todd Noonan
Grades: 6-8
Number of students: 1,150+
Cross streets: Washington Ave, south of Crane

From Mr. Noonan:
“This year, we have nearly 1200 students, each of them with their unique personalities, cultural backgrounds, challenges, interests and values,” Todd Noonan, ROMS principal, said. “All credit for our positive building climate goes to the dedicated young people and adults who have worked hard to make it this way. Beginning with the transition to middle school from elementary school, ROMS offers limitless opportunities for students to learn, enhance and demonstrate the ‘ROMS Way.’ Our teachers do a tremendous job of making student connections and nurturing safe classrooms to make a giant school feel smaller for our kids. We work really hard to honor the voices and perspectives of all students to make sure everyone feels at home here.”

Did you know?
ROMS is an International Baccalaureate Middle Years Programme School. According to the International Baccalaureate, The MYP aims to develop active learners and internationally minded young people who can empathize with others and pursue lives of purpose and meaning. Through the program at ROMS, students are empowered to inquire into a wide range of issues and ideas of significance locally, nationally and globally.

“The continual, collaborative and reflective work of our teachers builds a curriculum that has real world applications,” Noonan said. “Every year we send to Royal Oak High School a class of students prepared to continue their MYP-driven learning and who are inspired by ROMS adults and classmates.”

Transitioning at Royal Oak Schools

Moving from elementary to middle school and then middle to high school can be exciting and stressful for students and parents. Read our Q&A below for ways to keep the transition moving smoothly for your students.

Question: How are elementary students prepared for middle school?
Answer: For fifth graders leaving their elementary school and moving to ROMS, there are several activities to get them into their future school. Throughout the winter and spring, the elementary schools plan special visits to tour ROMS. Then, in early March, ROMS comes to them with scheduling visits and “instrumentpetting zoos” and instrument fittings. The process continues through the summer and fall with special Bulldawg events.

Q: The high school has a lot going on. How will my student become familiar with the building and different activities?
A: Eighth-graders begin in January with an introduction to scheduling for ninth grade, and continue through the winter and spring to get to know the high school. Tours in March and April give ROMS students the chance to speak with ROHS students and get to know the building. Orientation activities continue through the summer. In addition, there are several ongoing connections that middle school students have to the high school. The IB Middle Years Programme continues in 10th grade. There are also many clubs and groups that crossover between ROMS and ROHS, like sports teams, the Model UN and Dawg Walk program. All-City concerts also introduce middle schoolers to the high school throughout the year.

Q: What can I do to help transition my student?
A: Whether your student is entering the middle school or high school, there are multiple ways to stay involved and help your student. Reminding them of other times they’ve had to make a transition can help, plus encouraging involvement in the various activities offered can give them something to look forward to when they make the move.
