Dear Royal Oak Schools Community,

As we head into the summer, we continue to register resident students as future Bulldogs and Ravens for next school year, most of whom are kindergarten students in the Class of 2032. Although many of us are looking to the 2019-20 school year by refining the new developmental kindergarten curriculum, fitting fifth-graders for the instruments they’ll play at Royal Oak Middle School next year, or gearing up for the improvements schools will see after the summer’s bond work, there is still plenty related to this school year to celebrate.

I am proud to announce that the district recently launched the Royal Oak Schools Cultural Competence Engagement Committee. This new community group will share and discuss what the district is doing around diversity, equity and inclusion, and learn together. At the first meeting we heard from the Royal Oak Multicultural Parent Association, elementary educators and students who shared inclusion efforts, middle school teachers who plan equity and diversity lessons, and the Royal Oak High School Diversity Club that organizes various initiatives to elevate underrepresented students. All are welcome to attend the next meeting at 6:30 p.m. on May 1 at the District Administration Office. More information about the initiative can be found at www.royaloakschools.org.

Families and community members are likely seeing preparations around Oak Ridge, Keller and Royal Oak High as we get ready for construction to ramp up during the summer break. Main projects include remodeling Oak Ridge’s learning commons, reorienting Keller’s entrance and adding performing arts, and cafeteria spaces at ROHS. Complete project lists can be found on our website.

Don’t forget to keep an eye on The Daily Tribune following the ROHS graduation for a special insert that recognizes our seniors and contains summer district news. Between spring and summer sports, final concerts, honors celebrations and much more, we have plenty of good news to share.

I hope you enjoy the following pages, which contain important information and stories that highlight the hard work of our students and staff. As always, please be sure to visit our district website, www.royaloakschools.org, and click “Subscribe to eNews” to regularly receive our publications.

Sincerely,

Mary Beth Fitzpatrick, Superintendent
Schools celebrate teachers, support person of the year

Royal Oak Schools recently named three teachers and one support staff member as annual award winners.

The Teachers of the Year and Support Person of the Year were nominated for county awards, in addition to the district recognition. They are:

• Kara Daunt, IB Coordinator and Response to Intervention Teacher, Keller Elementary
• Karina Landis, Sixth Grade Math Teacher and EL Coordinator, Royal Oak Middle School
• Elizabeth Cusick, French and Science Teacher, Royal Oak High School
• Patricia Hansen, Media Tech at Oak Ridge and Northwood

Daunt, who holds a bachelor’s degree in education from Michigan State University and a master’s in brain research from Nova Southeastern University, has been teaching in the district for 17 years. On her nomination application, Marcie Dryden, Keller principal, said that Daunt has made an impact at the school, especially in her role as IB coordinator. “She is constantly working with students, staff and parents to make Keller and our community a better place,” Dryden said. “She is sought out before school, during lunch and after school by colleagues as they collaborate on behavior issues, lessons and school projects.”

Landis has been teaching in the Royal Oak Schools district for more than 15 years, and she holds a bachelor’s degree in economics/philosophy from the University of Michigan and a master’s degree in teaching from Wayne State. Dan Colligan, ROMS assistant principal, said Landis gets to know her students to better connect them with the content of the class, especially English learning students. “Ms. Landis makes every student feel comfortable in the classroom,” Colligan said. “She is comfortable being herself in the room and creates the condition for each student to bring their identity into the classroom. Ms. Landis leads by example by always showing respect for her students and creating safe spaces for students to learn.”

Cusick, who holds a bachelor’s degree in biological science and master’s degree in educational technology, has been teaching at ROHS for five years. In addition to the wide range of subjects she teaches, Cusick is also the district’s 6–12 science curriculum lead and a cosponsor of the school’s National Honor Society. “Through her involvement in NHS, Elizabeth oversees and encourages students’ efforts in philanthropy and character development,” Michael Giromini, ROHS principal, said. “This group has become an active tutoring program within our school offering open-door academic support, filling a need in our community and connecting students with one another.”

Hansen has worked for the district for more than 20 years as both a paraprofes-
Angela Ashburn, Northwood principal, nominated Hanson for the award. She explained that Hanson is a leader within the school, as she co-chairs the Northwood Broadcast System, helps train new media techs and works with the PTA to strengthen and build a diverse library collection.

“Patty's gift for working with children is evident in every facet of her duties in our school,” Mary Ann Campbell, Northwood special education teacher, said. “She is a valued member of our staff and our school community because she is kind, intelligent, compassionate, hard-working and a role model for how to treat children. Oak Ridge and Northwood communities are very fortunate to have her in our buildings and even luckier to call her ‘friend.’”

Composting Pilot Program Begins at Three Schools

Northwood Elementary, Oak Ridge Elementary and Royal Oak High School recently started piloting a new program that turns organic material into plant food.

Recycled lunch trays were introduced at all elementary schools and Royal Oak Middle School this year, providing a more environmentally friendly alternative to the traditional lunch trays. Mike Jacobs, food service director, explained that until recently, there hadn’t been an option on the market that was recycled, sturdy and cost-effective.

Northwood and Oak Ridge, however, are taking their positive environmental impact one step further and working with local organizations to turn their fiber trays to compost. Once students are done eating, they scrape their leftover food or waste into garbage cans so they can be stacked and efficiently transported. They are then taken to Tuthill Farms in South Lyon where they are broken down into compost, an organic material that can be added to soil to help plants grow.

Because Royal Oak High School hosts several different food stations during lunch time, all with unique disposable serveware needs, they have not yet implemented the recycled food trays. Instead, cafeteria workers save food scraps, like pineapple cores or fruit peels, and compost those materials.

Jacobs said that before implementing the composting program at the district, he tried it at home to understand the process. He then brought the compost he produced back to Oak Ridge for use in its garden.

“Everybody’s just been more aware of what we’re putting in the garbage can,” Jacobs said.
Royal Oak High School AltFeb Trip in Photos and Numbers

Nearly 100 Royal Oak High School Interact Club members spent their February break working to improve the community of New Bern, North Carolina after it was damaged by Hurricane Florence and the flood aftermath.

What all did they do? Learn about it through photos.

92 students traveled to New Bern, North Carolina.

Each student completed 30+ hours of service.

More than $200,000 worth of work was completed.

The high schoolers continued renovations of a senior's home destroyed by hurricane.

Trenton Town Hall was renovated with the students' help.

The volunteers gutted six businesses.
Royal Oak Schools offers fee-based before and after school child care for school-aged children at each of the six elementary schools.

The Young Oaks Latchkey Program emphasizes a comfortable, supervised atmosphere that includes activities to enhance the child’s physical, social and academic growth.

The program is fully licensed by the State of Michigan and follows all of its guidelines. The staff is fully trained in CPR and first aid, and they receive additional appropriate in-service training throughout the year.

We offer care before and after school, as well as on most vacation days. In addition, summer camp is available during the summer break.

For more information regarding the fee structure of the Young Oaks Program, visit www.royaloakschools.com or call Evelyn Maurer at (248) 288-3220, Ext. 3561.

Each issue, Royal Oak Schools aims to highlight a building, giving the community a look at the school beyond what it sees from the outside. This time we’re featuring the Churchill Community Education Center.

Principal: Melissa Hutchinson
Levels taught: High school, adult education
Address: 707 Girard
Cross streets: 13 Mile and Rochester
Communities served: Royal Oak, Southfield, Detroit, Berkley, Oak Park, Hazel Park and beyond

One building, many possibilities

Despite its small size, the Churchill Community Education Center is the home to several district programs. Adults and high school students 16 years and older can enroll in the alternative community high school for daytime or evening classes. Through this program, students earn a high school diploma. Additionally, the center hosts GED preparation classes and testing, plus English as a Second Language classes for adults learning English. TRAILS, the district’s adult transition program, is also hosted in the building. The District Administration Office, 800 Devillen, is located in the same building. The location served as Winston Churchill Junior High until 1998, and the building was later remodeled to better suit its new purposes.

From Mrs. Hutchinson:

I love working with the students at the high school. We have a smaller environment here than a traditional high school, and we get to know each one of our kids in a different way. Once we understand what’s going on in their lives outside of school, it really helps us to guide them in making better decisions inside of school. We’re able to help these young adults realize a goal and then realize the steps it takes to achieve that goal. Seeing them go from making poor academic choices, which is why some of them come to school here, to maturing and making positive changes in their lives, makes me very happy to come to work. Some of the students don’t have a support system at home, so we become their family, and I really enjoy that we offer that for all the kids here.
